FREIGHT SHIPMENT SHORTAGE HITS HERE

Owing to the impossibility of securing raw material for the manufacture of woollens, the Norwich Woollen company of Thamesville and the Liberty Woollen company of Taunton have been obliged to go on short time in order to prevent an entire shutdown of the plants. The schedule which is now in effect is a four-day week, the mills operating only the first four days of the week. Instead of closing at noon Saturdays, the plants will now shut down on Thursday night.

In the notices posted at the plants on Tuesday, difficulties in transportation were given as the cause for the curtailed output. With transportation facilities in such a state as now prevails, it is practically impossible for the mills to get the raw material for manufacturing and, rather than eventually shut down entirely, the mills have curtailed their working hours.

CENSUS GIVES NORWICH

POPULATION OF 29,985

Census figures for Norwich given out Tuesday morning from the bureau at Washington showed a population for the town of 29,985 and of the city 23,304.

This is a gain in the past ten years of 1,466 for the town, or 5.2 per cent, and of 1,357 for the city, or 5.9 per cent.

Henry Gebraht, who was supervisor of the Norwich census, said Tuesday night that the figures agreed within one of the figures he kept since the enumerators turned in their lists to him when the census was taken at the first of the year. He had made it one more person on both the city and the town counts.

Mr. Gebraht pointed out that the city of Norwich had annexed the Sunnyside Laurel Hill district, during the last ten years and that this census of that district showed 414 names, which would make the city's gain in population 1,357, counting the same territorial limits as ten years ago.

Predictions had been made that the census had given Norwich a population of from 30,000 to 32,000 and an optimistic Norwich resident had put the figure at 40,000 but these figures are not borne out by the official government count.

BROKE LEG IN FALL

WHEN STAGING GAVE WAY

William J. McNeely, a carpenter, of 180 Palmer street, had his left leg broken and suffered from cuts and lacerations as a result of a fall from a staging Tuesday morning at the garage of Traver Briscoe on Broad street, but Thomas F. Craney, another carpenter at work on the job, saved himself by clinging to the gutter of the roof of the garage and climbing, hand over hand, to safety.

The accident happened when a staging upon which the men were working gave away from the building and Mr. McNeely fell onto some concrete. Mr. Craney was able to crawl along the gutter to a part of the staging that held and from there came down the ladder to the ground.

Dr. C. C. Glidewell was called to attend Mr. McNeely. He later was taken to the Backus hospital.
